EDMONTON CHURCHES

Edmonton is in a very marked degree a church going town. Missionary effort has had a large part in its establishment and progress and its various churches now take an important place in the life and work of its people.

The settlement which was the beginning of the town was due to the foresight and energy of the Rev. George McDougall, a missionary of the Methodist church, who, after the transfer of the Northwest from the Hudson's Bay Company to Canada, realizing the strategic position of Edmonton in the development that was bound to take place, removed from Victoria, eighty miles down the Saskatchewan, where he had already established a mission, to Edmonton, and established a mission here in 1872. The Hudson's Bay Company had set aside the reserve ground their fort to which they were entitled by the terms of the transfer. There was then no settlement on the land eastward from the line of the Hudson's Bay Company's property. Rev. Mr. McDougall, in conjunction with several ex-Hudson's Bay Company officials, entered into occupation of the land till then unoccupied, eastward from the Hudson's Bay Company's property, and divided it up into river claims, that is, claims having an approximately equal frontage on the river, and extending back indefinitely. At that time, no survey had been made. The boundaries of the claims were decided by mutual agreement, and the claims themselves held by occupation. Mr. McDougall staked the first claim adjoining the Hudson's Bay line, as land for a Methodist church, the second as land for a Methodist parsonage, and the third as land for a school. These claims are now river lots 4, 5, and 6, and form the business centre of the town. A church building was at once erected, which was worthy of the site and of the prospects of the place, as well as a monument to the energy of its founder and the liberality and public spirit of the handful of people then constituting Edmonton. The building was of dressed lumber throughout, every board of which was sawn and dressed by hand, the nails in the structure cost from 50c to $1.00 a pound, and the price per pane. The building was used until it became too small for the growing congregation. It was then removed and the present church built upon the site. The second church has now been outgrown and an addition as large as the original building has just been completed. The church now has a seating capacity of from five hundred to six hundred. It is situated on the corner of College avenue and First street and occupies probably the most beautiful of the many beautiful situations in Edmonton. Closely adjoining the church and fronting on College avenue is the parsonage, a neat and commodious brick building. A little further east, also on College avenue, the Edmonton High School occupies the very site of the first Methodist parsonage. The balm of Gilead trees growing in front of the school were planted by Rev. Mr. McDougall, the church as known as McDougall church in honor of its founder. The pastor is Rev. C. H. Hueston, B.A.

The Methodists claim to have sent the first Christian missionary to Edmonton, long before the time of the Rev. George McDougall, but the Roman Catholic was the first church built. It was built within the walls of the Hudson's Bay Company's fort, of the city in itself, was the only safe place in those very early days. About 1875 the church—a log building—was taken down and re-erected on property acquired from Mr. M. Frost, close to the western line of the Hudson's Bay reserve. The priest in charge was Rev. Father Blain. Long years before this time, the Roman Catholics had chosen St. Albert, some miles northwest of Edmonton, as the centre of their missionary activity, and had erected a modest cathedral there, which is now being succeeded by a magnificent brick structure. The diocese was under the spiritual control of the late Bishop Grandin. The Hudson's Bay Company reserve was surveyed into town lots in 1881, and shortly afterwards the Roman Catholic church acquired the blocks of property which they now hold on Tenth and Eleventh streets. A modest frame church was erected on Ninth street and the building which had been erected west of the reserve was pulled down. The parish was named St. Joachim's. The Rev. Father Scollin was the first priest in charge of St. Joachim's church. In a few years the congregation outgrew the church and the present splendid brick edifice was erected, during the incumbency of the Rev. Father Ledue. The establishment in connection with the Roman Catholic church, include a residence for the priest in charge, a convent school building, and a general hospital, all of brick. There is also a maternity hospital, which is conducted in a frame building. Rev. Father Jan is the priest in charge.

A LAND OFFICE BUSINESS.

To every part of the world has gone but the fame of Western Canada's inexhaustible natural resources. A strong tide of immigration has set in and is flowing this way. The Edmonton district continues to be the great attraction to homesteaders. The homestead entries in the Edmonton district for the past five years show a large and steady growth. The applications for patents are numerous and also show a steady growth. Not by any means the least important work at the Land Office is the correspondence. Letters are received from all parts of the world enquiring about the natural resources of the district, the climate, the crops, the school system, and a thousand other questions of interest to an intending immigrant. The following table gives comparative statements showing the large increase in business year by year for the last five years at the Dominion Land Office, Edmonton:

	Homestead Entries	Applications for Patents	Letters Received	Letters Sent
Year ending 30th June, 1899,	886	372	5531	4,307
Year ending 30th June, 1900,	1,033	312	933	4,856
Year ending 30th June, 1901,	1,631	278	2,711	6,187
Year ending 30th June, 1902,	2,144	376	1,117	6,234
Year ending 30th June, 1903,	3,163	518	1,965	10,605

The above table shows the returns for the past five years. The appended table gives the comparative statements showing the returns for the four months of July, August, September and October, during the years 1901, 1902 and 1903. This statement is only for four months of each year and shows that the Land Office business at Edmonton is still on the increase:

	Homestead Entries	App. Pat.	T. P.	Letters Rec'd.	Letters Sent.
1901	584	115	67	2,530	1,854
1902	886	172	142	3,772	2,932
1903	1,066	271	163	5,112	4,150

The first Church of England mission in Edmonton was established in 1876 by Rev. Canon Newton. In 1876 he undertook the erection of a church on property donated by Malcolm Grant, adjoining the west boundary of the Hudson's Bay Company's reserve. The site was most beautiful on the brow of the hill overlooking the river and valley. The same difficulties as to security and cost of material as had been met in the construction of the Methodist church, were encountered in the case of the original All Saints' church and successfully overcome, and a neat and creditable edifice was provided. Service was held in this church for a number of years, but as the town grew and the centre of population was established nearly two miles away, the congregation decided to remove the church building to a site on McKay avenue, which was done. Soon afterwards the growth of the congregation compelled the construction of the present brick building on Third street. There is in connection with the church a commodious Sunday school building. There is also a handsome parsonage of brick. The pastor is the Rev. H. A. Gray.

The Presbyterian church in Edmonton was organized in 1873 under the pastorate of Rev. A. Baird, at present of Manitoba College. The first list of membership comprised seven names and on the strength of this support lots were secured from the Hudson's Bay Company on the corner of Fourth street and McKay avenue, and the then largest church edifice in town was undertaken and successfully completed. The building was of frame and met the needs of the congregation until, in 1891, of the congregation was commenced. It was completed in 1902. It is on the corner of Third street and Jasper avenue. It is of solid brick, handsomely fitted throughout, and is said to be the finest Protestant church in the Territories at this date. The congregation has increased to such an extent that already an enlargement is talked of. The manse in connection with the church is situated on the original church property. The pastor is Rev. D. G. McQueen.

The Baptist church was established in Edmonton in 1893 by Rev. A. McDonald, who had also established the first Baptist church in Winnipeg. Mr. McDonald is a missionary in the most complete sense of the word. He was the founder of the Baptist church in Strathcona, when he took charge of it after leaving Edmonton, and has since founded another church at Leduc, where he now resides. The first Baptist church was a neat brick building on the corner of Howard and Rice streets. The congregation has increased to such an extent during the past year, that it became necessary during the past summer to double the seating capacity of the church by additions to both sides of the building. The pastor is Rev. A. M. McDonald.

The German Baptist church was established in Edmonton by Rev. Mr. Hagar, and the congregation now occupies a very neat church building on Namayo avenue. The church was completed in 1901. Rev. Mr. Hagar is still the pastor.

The Orthodox Greek church occupies a large frame building on the corner of Kinross and Jasper avenues. There is no resident priest, but services are conducted from time to time by a missionary priest from Waskow.

The Salvation Army established an outpost in Edmonton in 1893. The officer in charge was Captain Kadey, and the army did good work then and since. They have this season erected a hall and barracks on Fraser avenue. The building is of frame, 28x54, two storeys high. The officers in charge of the Edmonton detachment are Adjutant Green and Captain Custer.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE

The customs returns for the last ten months at the Dominion Customs Office, Edmonton, show a great increase month by month. The amount of customs duties collected this year is far in advance of those collected during the corresponding months of last year. Last year's, again, were over double those of the previous year. The following table sets forth the amount of dutiable goods which passed through the Edmonton Customs Office, and the amount of duty collected for the past ten months. These figures tell a tale of great prosperity:

	Value of Goods.	Duties Collected.
January	$27,878	$4,830.68
February	27,412	4,831.25
March	24,842	2,228.13
April	30,182	3,239.89
May	26,609	3,287.37
June	32,332	4,788.36
July	36,435	3,997.99
August	50,504	4,859.69
September	23,886	1,728.91
October	27,532	5,044.76

The returns from the Edmonton excise office show a corresponding increase. The total amount of inland revenue collected at Edmonton for the past ten months is:

January	$2,214
February	2,940
March	2,353
April	3,303
May	1,532
June	2,705
July	3,102
August	2,187
September	2,492
October	2,179

Total $24,657
For the corresponding ten months of last year the amount of inland revenue collected was $18,627. This shows an increase for the ten months of this year of almost six thousand dollars.

NORWOOD.

What is the Matter With Norwood?

NORWOOD

Norwood is all right or we would have nothing to do with it; as we believe in Edmonton so we do in Norwood. Therefore if Edmonton is all right so is Norwood.

There is No Doubt About Edmonton's Future

It is destined to become the great Metropolis of the Territories. This is a recognized fact and generally admitted now by everyone. The present prosperity is truly unexampled but as it has been slow in coming so will it be slow in departing.

For all the labor, capital and railroad equipment which can possibly be obtained the West will furnish a demand for years to come, all heading toward Edmonton, the Storehouse of the West—giving us direct and shorter routes to the East and opening up new markets for us in the farther West.

The Canadian Northern expects to reach Edmonton inside of two years, the Grand Trunk Pacific about the same time or not long after and the Canadian Pacific expects to beat them both. All these roads will have branch lines running out from Edmonton in all directions, in fact surveys for the branch lines are now under way. This means business for EDMONTON. It means increased growth and population. It means money will be made by the prudent and wise ones who invest some money in

NORWOOD LOTS NOW.

This is the most desirable property on the market today as well as the cheapest. It has the most commanding view of the Town is nearer the C. N. R. station Grounds and expected to be still nearer the Grand Trunk Pacific than any other properties outside the Town limits.

There are no less than three bridges across Rat Creek to accommodate the traffic which goes through Norwood, all roads from Edmonton North go through Norwood.

Norwood is the Northern Entrance to Edmonton and Norwood to the great highway leading out of Edmonton. There is ten times more traffic through Norwood than over any other road to Edmonton. Edmonton is already built right out to Rat Creek the boundary line.

The Actual Business Growth of the Town is Northward and each of the several streets leading North is looked upon by its property owners as going to be the Yongestreet of Edmonton, the great business street North. No matter which it is they are all heading for Norwood and as Edmonton prospers so will Norwood.

Now is the Time to Buy.

The Lots are from $40 to $150; One Quarter Cash, balance in Three Equal Annual Payments at 8 per cent.
